

The Ultimate Multi-Channel Music Management System

SongBoss is an innovative music management system that provides businesses a sophisticated digital music system and automated music manager.

SongBoss offers a computerized musical jukebox that stores thousands of music tracks, and organizes them into easy-to-manage libraries. Play back sequenced music in any predetermined order. SongBoss is an industrial quality playback engine, suitable for long-term continuous operation in a demanding business environment. SongBoss also functions as an advanced automated DJ, with high quality transitions between musical pieces.

SongBoss is the perfect music management solution for the hospitality, auto dealership and restaurant industries, guaranteeing music control and management to match your customers' preferences. Controlled from a single automated music center, SongBoss supports up to 20 simultaneous and distinct stereo channels or zones.

SongBoss is designed for complex sites with multiple music needs. With SongBoss, gone are the days when you need to duplicate the music management effort in every area of your facility. All zones access the same music library, program music sequence play lists, and control schedules. One person easily handles total management of your music.

SongBoss delivers multiple channels to different locations, enabling the business owner to select the musical ambience to his or her preference at the delivery point.

How Can SongBoss Help My Hotel Property, Auto Dealership, or Restaurant?

- Control the audio atmosphere within your facility and deliver a remarkable service experience that will keep customers coming back
- Ensure that your business is within legal and regulatory compliance regarding music-licensing provisions for business
- Create a unique atmosphere in key parts of your facility including lobby, registration, bar, general restaurant, customer-waiting areas, parts department, or back of the house employee areas
- Utilize music and an enhanced customer experience to differentiate your premium brand business from others in your market